NATO Secretary General Jens Stoltenberg said Tuesday (26 February) he had spoken with US President Joe Biden about preparing the alliances next summit and discussed challenges including terrorism, Russian assertiveness and Chinas rising power.

Stoltenberg hailed Bidens focus on rebuilding alliances, NATO said, following four years of US president Donald Trump who lashed out at long-standing allies.

Stoltenberg underlined that NATO is the place where Europeans and Americans meet every day and that together, we can face challenges that none of our nations can face alone.
