"Even before the elections, I said that the only good thing is an expert, broad government, but if it doesn't happen - then one between the first two parties. I think that Denkov and Gabriel are very close to making a decision. But until they agree, we haven't agreed on anything". This was stated by GERB leader Boyko Borissov on the sidelines of the parliament.

"We Continue the Change want to bear responsibility themselves, including with politicians. We with 'Yes, Bulgaria' are responding to their requests," said Borissov when asked if they had proposed experts for a future cabinet.
