Foreign Minister Ararat Mirzoyan met with his Turkish counterpart Hakan Fidan on Friday as he visited Turkey to participate in an annual conference on international security held in the resort city of Antalya.

During the meeting, the process of normalization of relations between Armenia and Turkey was discussed and readiness to achieve their full normalization was reaffirmed, read a statement released by the Armenian Foreign Ministry.

Mirzoyan and Fidan exchanged views on possible concrete steps in that direction, added the statement. It did not say whether any agreements were reached by them.
