TRT World (3 March 2024)

Prioritizing the establishment of a friendship grounded in mutual respect and non-interference in internal affairs, Bayramov signals a diplomatic commitment to fostering enduring relations between the two nations.

Azerbaijan's Foreign Minister Jeyhun Bayramov, regarding the meeting with Armenian Foreign Minister Ararat Mirzoyan, has stated that while specific solutions were not achieved for both parties during the discussions, the meeting proved valuable in enhancing the understanding of the situation and establishing a foundation for future engagements.

"I cannot say that concrete solutions were reached for both sides as a result of the discussions. However, the meeting was generally useful to better understand the situation and lay the groundwork for future contacts. The parties agreed that the contacts should be continued," Bayramov stated at the Antalya Diplomacy Forum.
