Esra Tekin - Ruslan Rehimov

Warning that Armenias large-scale armament campaign is a new threat to the region, Ilham Aliyev says there is no logical explanation for this.

The South Caucasus should be a region of peace, Azerbaijani President Ilham Aliyev said late Tuesday in an address to the nation, pointing to the threat from recent actions by Armenia.

The South Caucasus should be a region of peace, harmony and cooperation. Armenia's large-scale and rapid militarization could destroy the possibility of peace. I must also note that Azerbaijan will not remain a mere spectator in this matter, he said.
