European patriotic parties have a historic opportunity after US election.

A specter is haunting Europe □ the specter of Donald Trump. The European elites did not expect him to make a comeback and, worse still, they have no clue how to counter him.

When I was elected to the European Parliament in 2019, Donald Trump was still the 45th President of the United States, and the Eurocrats fantasized about strategic autonomy. In 2020, Joe Biden followed Trump, intoning: America is back to lead the world again and all of Brussels rejoiced.
