All-Party Parliamentary Group (APPG) on cooperation with the countries of Central Asia has been established in the UK Parliament, Kazinform News Agency reports citing the press service of the Kazakh MFA.

The inaugural meeting of the APPG was hosted on July 14.

APPGs are an important mechanism of parliamentary diplomacy in the United Kingdom. They contribute to strengthening international engagement, fostering cross-party dialogue, and sustaining interest in foreign policy matters at the parliamentary level. While such groups do not directly participate in the formulation of foreign policy strategy, their activities influence the development of approaches and priorities in the UK's relations with individual countries and regions.
