The signing of a Joint Declaration between the United States, Azerbaijan, and Armenia in Washington marks a significant step forward in the peace process and reaffirms Baku's commitment to a peaceful resolution of regional issues.

In an interview with NE Global, Elchin Amirbayov, Special Representative of the President of the Republic of Azerbaijan, emphasized that the declaration reflects the parties' shared intention to finalize a peace treaty between Azerbaijan and Armenia, Azernews reports.

The document acknowledges the necessity of further steps toward the signing and ratification of the peace agreement. Specifically, Baku expects constitutional amendments in Armenia to eliminate existing territorial claims against Azerbaijan, Amirbayov stated.
