Prime Minister Nikol Pashinyan today received the UK Minister of State for Europe, North America and the Overseas Territories, Stephen Doughty.

Welcoming his guest, the Prime Minister expressed satisfaction with the successful stage of the Armenia [] Strategic Dialogue and stressed the importance of Mr. Doughtys visit to the region, which comes at what he described as a very important, even historic period. Pashinyan highlighted the recent agreements reached in Washington between Armenia and Azerbaijan, noting that they create a foundation for stability and predictability in the South Caucasus, as well as broader regional cooperation and development.

Minister Doughty congratulated the Prime Minister on the historic outcomes achieved in Washington in advancing the peace agenda and normalization of relations between Armenia and Azerbaijan. He underlined the United Kingdoms firm support for this process.
