"The EU will not be intimidated," António Costa said in response to the latest Russian attack against Kyiv, which damaged the EU delegation.

The shock wave unleashed by Russia's latest strike against Kyiv has "severely" damaged the delegation of the European Union in the Ukrainian capital, the bloc's ambassador Katarina Mathernova announced on Thursday morning.

The overnight attack, part of Moscow's campaign of sowing terror and chaos, has killed at least 10 people and left dozens injured, causing major destruction across the city.
