Armenia is preparing for high-level talks with the United States on the proposed Trump Route project, with discussions expected to start in September alongside Azerbaijan.

Armenias Foreign Ministry spokesperson Ani Badalyan said talks with the U. S. are planned in the near future, with the Trump Route for International Peace and Prosperity (TRIPP) project among the topics on the agenda.

She added that further details on the visit of U.S. officials to Yerevan and the scope of discussions will be made public later.
