Armenian Prime Minister Nikol Pashinyan and 10 bishops and archbishops have announced plans to reform the Armenian Apostolic Church.

The statement, read by Pashinyan in a video posted on Facebook and signed by the participating clergy, establishes a coordinating council to oversee the reform process. The council may expand its membership by unanimous decision, News.Az reports, citing Armenian media.

The leaders called on the clergy and faithful to support the reforms, uniting for the Church, the Republic of Armenia, and the Armenian people.
