Kyrgyzstan is steadily expanding its exports, bringing national products to European and Middle Eastern markets, Trend reports via the Kyrgyz Ministry of Water Resources, Agriculture and Processing Industry.

According to the information, the country is also in the process of obtaining authorization to export honey to the European Union, while 298 kg of honey have already been shipped to the UK, marking an important step in promoting national products.

The countrys strong potential in livestock farming is demonstrated by the export of 144 horses to Saudi Arabia, opening new avenues for agricultural trade.
