Xinhua (21 February 2026)

Serbian President Aleksandar Vucic on Friday underscored the crucial role of Chinese investment in Serbia's economic development during a visit to the country's eastern region.

Sustained Chinese involvement in key industrial projects is "of vital importance" for both local communities and the country as a whole, Vucic said in Bor, eastern Serbia.

The president highlighted the tangible impact of Chinese investment on employment and living standards, noting that the investment has preserved thousands of jobs and strengthened economic stability in the region.
