Armenian Parliament Speaker Alen Simonyan stated that Yerevan may consider leaving the Collective Security Treaty Organization (CSTO) and the Eurasian Economic Union (EAEU) if Russia increases gas prices for Armenia.

Simonyan made the remarks on April 4 during a briefing ahead of an extraordinary meeting of the Civil Contract party, commenting on the meeting between Armenian Prime Minister Nikol Pashinyan and Russian President Vladimir Putin, News.Az reports, citing Armenian media.

The speaker mentioned that discussions between the sides are not new, highlighting that issues like gas prices and other goods have been topics of conversation for many years.
