Today, a roundtable event themed President Ilham Aliyev's Peace Strategy Is the Guarantee of Stability was held under the organisation of the Azerbaijan Media Development Agency.

Opening the event with introductory remarks, Deputy Executive Director of the Media Development Agency Natiq Mammadli spoke about the message delivered by President Ilham Aliyev during his meeting in Zangilan with families relocating to the city's first residential complex, as well as the importance of the peace strategy. During the event, participants highlighted the importance of a peace strategy for the South Caucasus, along with a number of significant issues that must be addressed to ensure lasting peace in the region.

Former Foreign Minister and political analyst Tofiq Zulfugarov stated during the event that for 30 years, the Garabagh conflict was not resolved either through the initiatives of the OSCE Minsk Group or through international institutions. Eventually, in 2020, Azerbaijan entered into armed confrontation in response to provocations by separatist forces in Armenia and managed to resolve the Garabagh issue within 44 days.
