Prime Minister Nikol Pashinyan has reiterated Armenias willingness to fully normalize relations with Türkiye and Azerbaijan, emphasizing that doing so would lead to the completion of his administrations balanced and balancing foreign policy and open new opportunities for the country.

I am convinced that we will achieve the goal of normalizing relations with Azerbaijan and Türkiye, which means that the balanced and balancing foreign policy will reach its completion, creating new opportunities for Armenia to become a state of a new quality, he said in a video posted on social media, explaining his administrations foreign policy.

According to the Prime Minister, the absence of relations with Türkiye itself indicates an imbalance in foreign relations.
