Tensions renewed with the countrys Prime Minister after election landslide

I made my choice, praying that God will keep the Armenian state unshaken, Catholicos Karekin II said after voting in Sundays nationwide ballot. I also voted so that Gods love and mercy may be with us, building a strong, secure, and prosperous country.

Pashinyans Civic Contract Party won almost 50 per cent of the votes, far ahead of its three main opposition rivals, which won 37 per cent between them.
