Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Yi on Monday met Iranian Deputy Secretary of the Supreme National Security Council Ghadir Nezami on the sidelines of the BRICS meeting in New Delhi, following Tehran's talks with the US in Switzerland.

The two discussed regional developments, bilateral cooperation and the implementation of the peace agreement, according to a statement from the Iranian Embassy in India.

The 14 points of the agreement embody the "spirit of equality, adhere to the purposes of the UN Charter, and are in accordance with the norms of international relations," Wang said, according to a statement from the Chinese Foreign Ministry.
