Anadolu Agency (4 August 2026)

Myanmar President Min Aung Hlaing will make his first official visit to Thailand later this week, according to the Thai Foreign Ministry.

Bangkok will host Min Aung Hlaing from Aug. 6-7 at the invitation of Thai Prime Minister Anutin Charnvirakul, the ministry said late Monday.

According to the ministry, the two leaders will hold bilateral talks focused on strengthening cooperation between their countries and enhancing collaboration within the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN).
