Moscow has not forgotten the incident when Armenia did not rebuke Zelenskyy over threats to the Victory Day Parade in Moscow, Russian Foreign Ministry spokeswoman Maria Zakharova has said.

She noted that Armenian politicians and officials at the time failed to show the resolve needed to stop such statements, Caliber.Az reports, citing the Russian Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

A more graphic testament to the moral and spiritual degradation caused by rapprochement with today's faceless, morally impoverished Europe and fraternisation with the neo-Nazi regime in Kyiv would be hard to find. This is especially true in Armenia, where respect for and reverence toward elders have seemingly always been a cornerstone of Caucasian national identity.
