Top politicians in Kosovo said the Hague judgment finding ex-President Thaci and three other Kosovo Liberation Army ex-leaders guilty of war crimes was unjust but a Serbian minister said it proved the KLA was 'criminal'.

Kosovos Prime Minister Albin Kurti condemned the guilty verdict handed down to four wartime leaders of the Kosovo Liberation Army in The Hague on Wednesday as an unacceptable injustice.

In a video on Instagram, Kurti declared that the war crimes ruling must undoubtedly be overturned and rectified on appeal.
