The Caspian Post (29 September 2026)

Kazakhstan is offering Germany not only guaranteed supplies of critical raw materials but also the opportunity to establish joint production chains based on these resources, President Kassym-Jomart Tokayev said.

In an article for Handelsblatt, Tokayev said Kazakhstan wants to move beyond simply supplying raw materials and work with German companies on the entire production cycle.

We offer our German partners not simply guaranteed supplies, but the joint creation of complete production chains - from geological exploration and extraction to processing, component manufacturing and the reuse of materials, Tokayev wrote.
