President Masoud Pezeshkian says stronger transport links will help expand relations between Iran and Azerbaijan, underscoring the need to expand rail and air connections between Tehran and Baku.

Speaking during a meeting with Azerbaijani Deputy Prime Minister Shahin Mustafayev in Tehran on Tuesday, Pezeshkian said it was imperative that the two sides make maximum use of the existing capacities to further develop relations.

The Iranian president said Azerbaijan holds a special place in the Islamic Republics foreign policy, and that the two countries are relatives and brothers and should use their existing capacities and geographical proximity for the good of the two nations.
