Armenian Deputy Prime Minister Mher Grigoryan received a delegation led by Iranian Vice President Hamid Pourmohammadi, who arrived in Yerevan on Sunday evening ahead of the 19th meeting of the Armenian-Iranian Intergovernmental Joint Commission.

According to a press release from the Armenian Government, Grigoryan emphasized the political trust between Armenia and Iran, the economic agenda based on mutual interests, and the shared interest in expanding cooperation, which provide a solid foundation for elevating bilateral relations to a new, strategic level.

During the meeting, both sides emphasized the significant potential for further developing trade and economic relations between Armenia and Iran and expressed satisfaction with the growth in trade turnover recorded in recent years.
