Armenia is ready to have an open border and diplomatic relations with Türkiye as early as today, Parliament Speaker Ruben Rubinyan has said.

I believe there are no obstacles to having an open Armenia-Türkiye border and established diplomatic relations as soon as possible. We are ready for such a situation as early as today or tomorrow. The rest is up to Türkiye, Rubinyan, a senior member of the Civil Contract party, said at a press briefing when asked about the process of normalizing Armenian-Turkish relations.

He said that the checkpoints on both sides of the Margara-Alican border crossing have been restored and are ready to become operational.
